

Cheap essay

Essay writing service quick

HULT INTERNATIONAL BUSINESS SCHOOL INTERNATIONAL BUSINESS SCHOOL The campus on three continents was formed in 2003 as a result of the merger of Arthur D. Little School of Management, founded in 1964 in Boston, and Ashridge Business School, founded in 1959 in Eschridge, nearby London.

In total, there are 3,000 students in 7 campuses: in London, San Francisco and Boston bachelors, masters and graduate students, in Dubai, Shanghai and New York, only masters and graduate students. Students can choose the rotation option and move between school campus during the program.

The school is accredited by recognized authorities in the field of education and business education: New England Association of Schools and Colleges, Quality Assurance Agency for Higher Education, Association of MBAs (AMBA), British Accreditation Council for Independent Further and Higher Education, Massachusetts Department of Higher Education.

According to Financial Times, the MBA and Master In Management School programs come in the top 100 around the world, and its London Campus ranks 44th in the ranking of European business schools.

In Hult International Business School, the current president of the Dominican Republic of Louis Luis, Ciena Gary Smith and the founder of Honeywell Group and one of the richest businessmen of Africa, and one of the richest businessmen of Africa, and one of the richest businessmen of Africa. Why is it worth entering HULT International Business School?

Excellent opportunities for further employment are graduates of school in demand in well-known European and American companies. The list of popular employers is headed by Google, Ey, Amazon, Deloitte, Wells Fargo, Emc, Microsoft, Hilti, Porche, Nielson, Bloomberg;

Overtacks - unlike some other business schools, more than 20 student clubs of various directions and 8 sports clubs operate in Hult International Business School.

Strong directions:
management
marketing
Finance and Accounting
international Business